*The Enneagram:
An Introduction and Overview
September 18 – October 2, 2022*

In a three-part series, Marilyn Wolf will give us an overview of this unique map of human nature that helps guide our spiritual work and path. This tool, with ancient roots, offers insight into our God given personality and motivations, struggles, and gifts. Its wisdom can lead to greater self-awareness and deeper love of self and others. We will look at the three "Centers of Intelligence" (mind, heart, and body) as well as other key concepts such as focus of attention, core motivations, and the importance of the connecting lines.

Marilyn Wolf, M.Ed., is a seasoned teacher who has been working with the Enneagram since 2000. She is passionate about sharing her experience of the Enneagram with others because of its enormous impact on her own life and the lives of her many students. To get the most from this brief overview and get a start on discovering your type, please consider taking an assessment at www.enneagraminstitute.com. For those who want to learn more, a good concise introductory resource is the book The Essential Enneagram by David Daniels, MD. We will meet Sunday mornings in the Cloister and the class will be recorded.

*Resisting Empire:
The Book of Revelation as Resistance
October 16 – November 6, 2022*

Whose side is God on? How does scripture shape our faith? Can people of faith find new ways of talking about religion, empire, and evil in a world that so desperately needs liberation and justice? Dr. C. Wess Daniels will lead us in exploring an unlikely source for insight from one of our great traditions of resistance: The Book of Revelation. This book of the New Testament has often been used to fuel end-times prophesies and scapegoating. In this course, we will look at Revelation as a handbook from the first century minority Christians on how they resisted and survived empire.

C. Wess Daniels is the William R. Rogers Director of Friends Center & Quaker Studies at Guilford College and is widely published. He lives in Greensboro, North Carolina, with his wife, Emily and their three children. He has a Master's of Theology and Ph.D. in Intercultural Studies from Fuller Theological Seminary. His teaching and writing focus on liberating spirituality, revitalizing faith traditions, and renewing community for the work of liberation and justice in the world.

*The Church Cracked Open:
New Hope for the Beloved Community
November 27 – December 18, 2022*

Sometimes it takes disruption and loss to break us open and call us home to God. It's not surprising that a global pandemic and once-in-a-generation reckoning with white supremacy—on top of decades of systemic decline—have spurred Christians everywhere to ask who we are, why God placed us here and what difference that makes to the world.

The Church Cracked Open: Disruption, Decline, and New Hope for the Beloved Community, written by Rev. Canon Stephanie Spellers, invites us to redefine church, not just for the sake of others, but for our own salvation and liberation. Join Rev. Pam Haynes and Rev. John de Beer to discuss how this critical exploration of the American Christian story and the Episcopal Church opens us up to love Jesus and others, walk humbly with the most vulnerable, and embody beloved community.
